A GROWING NEWSPAPER — A GROWING COMMUNITY

Vol. 64, No. 52 — CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA — 10c — Thursday, Dec. 27, 1956

City Dedicates Hall January 6

Campbell's City Hall will be dedicated on Sunday afternoon, January 6, Mayor John M. Chargin reported this week. All residents of the city are invited to attend the "open house" and dedication ceremonies from 2 to 5 p.m.

Mayor Chargin said that county and neighboring community officials as well as local civic leaders have been issued invitations for the history-making affair.

Although the city departments have been operating from their new quarters since December 17, the program on Sunday, January 6, will mark the official opening of the City Hall.

The new City Hall located at 75 North Central Ave., is the former historic Campbell Congregational Church which was established here in 1889. The Congregational Church in July of this year moved to its new location on W. Campbell Ave. and the old church building was purchased by the City.

The old church structure has been completely remodeled for use by all the city departments. Observers claim that it compares favorably with any city hall in the county. Local residents will have an opportunity to tour and inspect the spacious new quarters during the "open house".

One of the outstanding features of the new building is the council chambers where the City Council and Planning Commission will hold their regular sessions. This room formerly the assembly hall of the church has been paneled and lighted in a modern motif.

The north wing of the structure has been converted into operational headquarters for the police department while the south wing is used for the city clerk and building inspector.

The building was purchased from the Congregational Church for $36,000 and the remodeling done under the supervision of W. L. (Bud) Morser, city building inspector, and Fred Marberg, architect, came to $25,000 including the furnishings.

Additional space in the building, including the basement, is not being fully utilized at the present time, city officials point out. When all the facilities that are available in the building are completed, the city hall will provide a community center that will be superior to many now in use county-wide.

It is estimated that had the City been forced to build a comparable new building from scratch that it would have cost the taxpayers at least $150,000.

Flames Destroy Inside of House

A fire, which apparently started in the attic as a result of defective wiring, gutted the inside of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bud McKinzie on Phelps Ave. near Payne Ave. last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. McKinzie was the only one homeatthe time. She called the fire department, then attempted to put the fireout with a garden hose. By that time, however, it had already made great headway.

Six trucks from Central Fire District answered the call, according to Battalion Chief Hugh Turner.

McKinzie and the couple's two children were away at the time.

According to Chief Turner, the family's possessions, including furniture and clothing, were destroyed by the flames.

Phone Call from Okinawa Acts as Christmas Gift

Mr. and Mrs. Mario Saia, 550 Cambrian Drive, Campbell, and daughter, Gloria, received what they considered the very best Christmas present possible when Bob, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saia, telephoned home early (3:30 a.m.) the day after Christmas.

Bob, who is in the U. S. Army Military Police called his parents and sister from Okinawa where he is stationed. Gloria made the arrangements for the call as a Christmas present for her parents and it was only on Christmas Day that she let Mr. and Mrs. Saia know that Bob was to call home from overseas.

Mario reports that the call came in clear and strong. Mrs. Saia and Gloria handled one extension and Mario another as they kept the line hopping between here and Okinawa.

COURT TO MOVE

The County may lease space in the new City Hall for the Justice Court, it was reported this week.

C. of C Dinner Takes Place Here On January 8

Campbell residents who have long wondered just what is in store for this community as far as San Jose is concerned will get the dope right "from the horses mouth" on Tuesday, January 8, when A. P. (Dutch) Hamann, city manager of San Jose, speaks at the annual dinner meeting of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner will take place in the Grammar School Cafeteria and Milt Nelson, president of the Campbell C. of C., will preside. In addition, at the meeting, Russell Petit, long-time manager of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce, will report on the various projects planned by the San Jose Chamber and how they will affect Campbell.

Directors of the local C. of C. are hoping the dinner meeting will be well attended by Chamber of Commerce members and have extended an invitation to all interested residents and business people. Members of the Campbell City Council are also expected to be in attendance.

Nelson will also report on the accomplishments of the local Chamber during the past year while Sam Cava, secretary-manager, will reveal some of the projects that are in store for this community in 1957.

R. Lyndon Rites Held Yesterday

Last rites were held at the Campbell Congregational Church at 2 p.m. yesterday for John R. Lyndon, 85, who passed away in a San Jose hospital last Sunday after a brief illness.

Dr. Corwin Olds, pastor of the Congregational Church; J. Wesley Farr, pastor of First Methodist Church in San Jose, and C. B. Sylvester, officiated at the services which were directed by Williams Funeral Chapel.

A retired wholesale grocer and a Campbell resident since 1937, Mr. Lyndon, who was a native of Ireland, immigrated to California when a young man and after the 1906 earthquake and fire, he and a partner founded a wholesale grocery firm in San Francisco, which he operated until his retirement in 1937.

He was a member of First Methodist Church of San Jose, Charity Lodge No. 362, F&AM, Campbell, and Campbell Kiwanis Club. He had belonged to Royal Arch Masons of San Francisco for over 50 years.

He was a city councilmen in Burlingame from 1916 to 1923.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. J. Wesley Farr of San Jose, also two sons, John R. Lyndon of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Richard Lyndon of San Francisco, besides ten grandchildren and a great grandson.

He made his home at 590 San Jose-Los Gatos Road in Campbell.

Increase in Population Affects All Phases of Community Activity

As the curtain drops on 1956 and the "Review of Year for Campbell" (12 acts) is presented, the "villain" of the show without any question of doubt is revealed as the growth problem with all its ramifications.

How the "villain" indirectly or directly is affecting the lives of all in the area and what it means for the future is the theme of the Review of '56.

All Are Touched

Churches, schools, streets, stores all in some way were touched during the year by the influx of people and the tide of growth at the year's end gave every indication of increasing at an even more accelerated pace.

No one event stood out as the main feature of the year . . . more schools and more schools . . . new churches . . . improved streets to take care of the ever-increasing traffic—all played their part.

Old Settlers' Day in May with its parade and floats again proved the rallying ground for both old-timers and new-timers. New life was injected into the Chamber of Commerce by the employment of Sam Cava as full-time secretary-manager . . . Winchester Road was changed from a chuck-hole marked thoroughfare to a smooth street . . . The Roosevelt Tree and its future became the center of interest as future plans for the widening of streets were discussed . . . The Campbell business district began to get is long-needed face-lift . . .

All this and more happened in 1956 . . . But here is the Review in all its 12 acts:

JANUARY

Thieves broke into the Cheerio Market early one morning and piled their car up with $300 worth of merchandise before they were interrupted by a produce delivery man who chased them. They got away.

Dr. and Mrs. John A Hughes of Campbell "adopted" an eight-year-old Korean boy, Choi Yung Chul, through the Foster Parent's Plan for War Children, Inc.

Campbell Union High School District Trustees gave the okay to Camden High School for construction of four new school buildings.

The Campbell Press got a new editor and publisher when George Vierhus bought the interests in the paper held by Lester Lafferty.

Congregational Church officials okayed the plan by which the City of Campbell would take over its Church building and convert it to a city hall.

FEBRUARY

Two policemen (one retired), a retired teacher, an active PTA leader, a minister, a Catholic priest, an attorney and a practicing psychiatrist met and organized the Campbell Youth Guidance Committee.

The question of should Hamilton Avenue "jog" became a reoccuriing problem facing the city planners.

Nine candidates filed for the three positions opening on the city council. They were: T. M. (Ebb) Bohn, Fred T. Burt, E. Jerry Collins, Myron L. Fairchild, Perry Hull, Carolyn Payne, Claude Smith, Charles Rose and John M. Chargin.

The confused state of local-house-numbering took the first step toward unravelment when the City held a public hearing on the master plan.

The D. M. Bagby Grammar School opened in the Cambrian School District with an enrollment of 350. It was the district's third school.

MARCH

Bill Jensen and Bob Long opened the new Campbell-Cambrian bicycle shop on E. Campbell Ave.

George Kemp, vice-principal of Campbell High School, was named general chairman for the 64th annual Old Settlers' Day scheduled for early May.

Paul E. Marcuson of Campbell built and patented a worm-vending machine, to be placed in the front-yard of his worm farm, to enable customers to pick up a carton of worms just by inserting a coin.

Residents of Whitehall St. voiced objections to the City Planning Commission concerning an application by a contractor to build a warehouse on their street.

Campbell Union Elementary School District received the States conditional apportionment for three new school sites totalling $236,500 and involving the purchase of 39 plus acres.

The Campbell Planning Commission finally adopted the "Hamilton Jog" plan. The curving of the road during widening by 15-feet to avoid residential property, it was said, would save the city about $50,000.

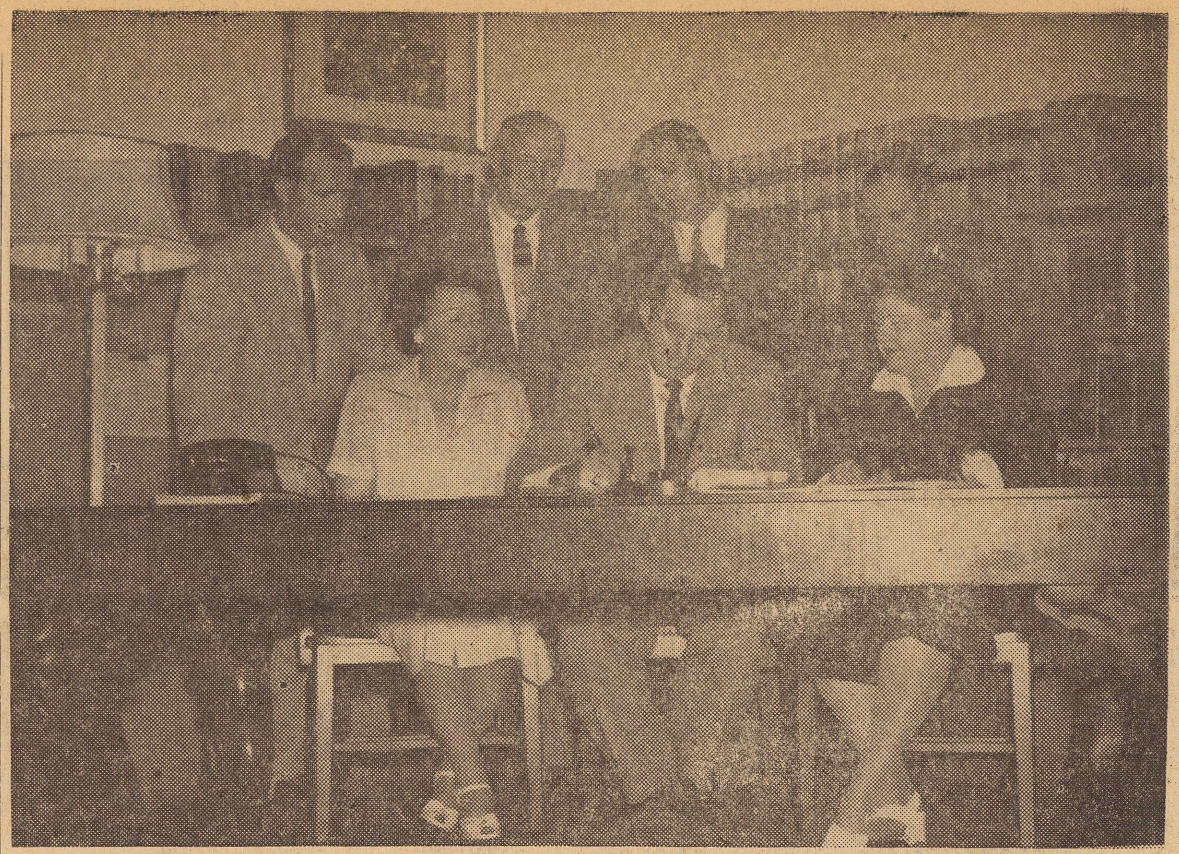
APRIL

The Campbell Press endorsed incumbents John M. Chargin and Charles Rose for re-election to the City Council.

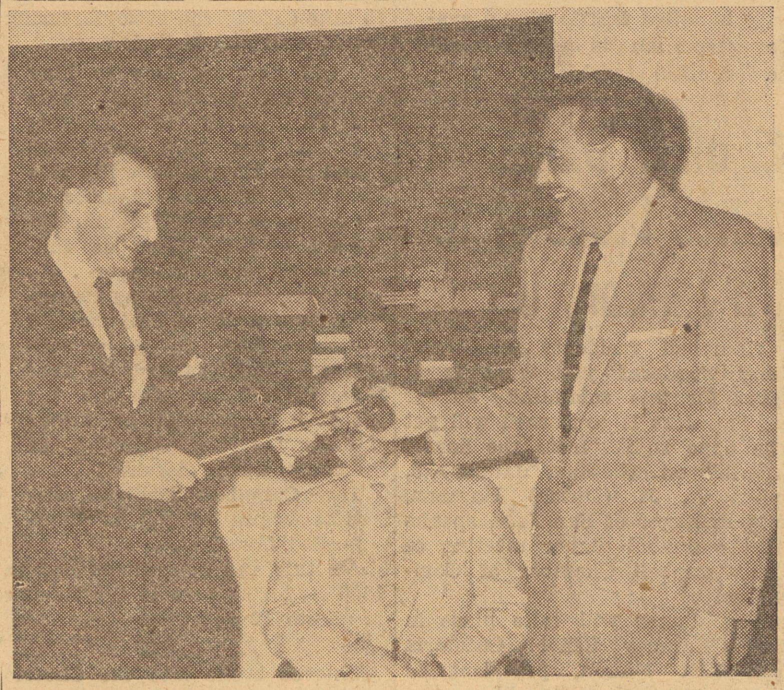
The American Trust Company purchased the southwest corner of Campbell Ave. and Second St., as a site for a new bank.

The City Planners approved the operation of a cover and fill dump to be located in the Los Gatos Creek bed.

Twenty-seven per cent of the 2385 voters in Campbell went to the polls and elected three new councilmen for four-year terms; incumbents John M. Chargin and Charles Rose and Myron L. Fairchild. Chargin was later elected mayor in a unanimous vote by the council. He replaced Campbell's first Mayor, Richard Morton.



WHEN LOCAL HISTORY WAS MADE . . . City and church officials watch as Mayor John M. Chargin signs the purchase order to give Campbell a city hall. The building purchased was the 60-year old Congregational Church.



NEW MAYOR IN . . . old mayor out: newly elected mayor, John Chargin (left) receives the gavel last April from Campbell's first mayor, Richard Morton.

The City Council approved the plan-line for Winchester Road. The width decided upon was 120 feet.

MAY

A tear-jerking "mellerdrammer" presented by the Campbell Footlighters launched the greatest Old Settlers' Day celebration in its 64-year history in Campbell. The activitiy-packed three-day program included the crowning of a queen, Danice Solomon; and the presentation of the Mother of the Year award to Mrs. Fred Smith. The most colorful part of the celebration was the Saturday parade. It was followed by a square dance held in the Hunts Food Co. building on Harrison Ave. They were days to be remembered.

Mrs. Jessie Campbell, the 94-year-old daughter of the town's founder, Benjamin Campbell, was named honorary queen of the Old Settler's celebration.

Robert Landreth was named principal of Monroe School by Campbell Union Elementary School District officials.

Campbell Methodists consecrated the first section of their new Church building on Winchester Road. The building program was begun way back in September of 1954.

More than 100 youngsters signed up at the newly established junior rifle range sponsored by the Campbell Police Department and the Police Auxiliary.

The City Council overruled a Campbell Planning Commission recommendation for the first time in the City's history—what's more they did it twice in the same meeting.

JUNE

City Planners continued to move steps closer toward an eventual zone change from light industrial to commercial of an area on the west side of the San Jose - Los Gatos Road between Hamilton and Campbell avenues.

By an overwhelming margin, voters in the Campbell Union High School District approved the acceptance of one-and-onehalf-million dollars in state aid for the district.

Campbell Grammar School awarded diplomas to 450 eighth graders at commencement exercises held on the Campbell High athletic field.

The Campbell Union High School District awarded diplomas to 400 graduating seniors. Four seniors addressed the graduation audience, Ethel Dorman, Glen Cureton, Tony LoBue and Steve Hunter.

The question arose as to whether the "Roosevelt Redwood", planted in 1903 by President "Teddy" Roosevelt would have to succumb to progress. It stands in the way of widening of Winchester Road.

The Rev. Herbert Neale, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Campbell, left Campbell to join in a group of distinguished men from all over the United States who embarked on a good-will mission to Eastern Europe.

July

It was virtually assured that Campbell would get a City Hall in the form of the First Congregational Church building on Central Ave.

The Campbell Press gained an unique position in the newspaper world by adding to its staff what is believed to be the youngest sports writer in the country—9-year old Marvin Moore. Marvin's column, "Lowdown on Sports," has been appearing on the Press's sports page ever since he joined the staff.

The State gave its okay for a fourth high school to be added some day to the Campbell Union High School District.

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce was asked to assist in the search for larger quarters for the Campbell Post Office.

The Congregational Church held its first service in the new Church building on W. Campbell Ave. The City purchased the old Church building for $36,000 for a city hall.

The Rev. Herbert Neale, on a "study-tour" in Europe, began writing reports to the Campbell Press of his experiences behind the Iron Curtain.

August

Campbell's police and firemen received a five per cent pay increase as a direct result of an unexpected jump of almost two million dollars in the assessed valuation of property within the City of Campbell.

The fate of the 53-year-old Roosevelt Redwood still remained a moot question as the City Planning Commission referred the whole matter of the tree to Nestor Barrett, planning consultant, and Mark Thomas, city engineer.

It was definitely assured that Campbell would get a city sales tax.

"Service Station saturation," — that was the phrase used by City Planners to describe the situation that exists in Campbell, as they denied a zone-change application which would have allowed a service station to be built at the corner of Winchester Road and Kennedy Ave.

Miss Dolly Geis, 21, was chosen Miss Campbell in a contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

LOW DOWN ON SPORTS

By Marvin Moore

PREDICTION CORNER—

Rose Bowl—Oregon State

East-West Game — I take the West; we should support our own.

I wish to take this opportunity to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I had my Christmas present early, having the good fortune to attend the Josox's Booster Dinner. Imagine meeting Billy Martin, Tommy Heath, Bill Renna, Dick Whitman, Sal Taormina, Wayne Belardi, Duane Pillette, Walter Mails, Bob Shepherd, Billy Wilson and Jim Small all in one evening!

It was certainly a good turnout with Red Marion as Master of Ceremonies with a good assist by Earl Russell, sportcaster for the Josox. I know if the fans will only give the support the Josox deserve we will really have a ball club this year. Let's really get behind them. Tillie and Ed Reis of Campbell, staunch supporters of the Josox, attended too. Let's all take a tip from them and really get behind the Josox.

Our neighboring club from Salinas were there too in good number. Bill Krueger, business mgr. of the Salinas Club, was full of enthusiasm for the coming season and thinks San Jose and Salinas will battle it out for the pennant. We hope Bill is right, but my prediction will have to be for the Josox in first place and I'll sure pull for Salinas in second.

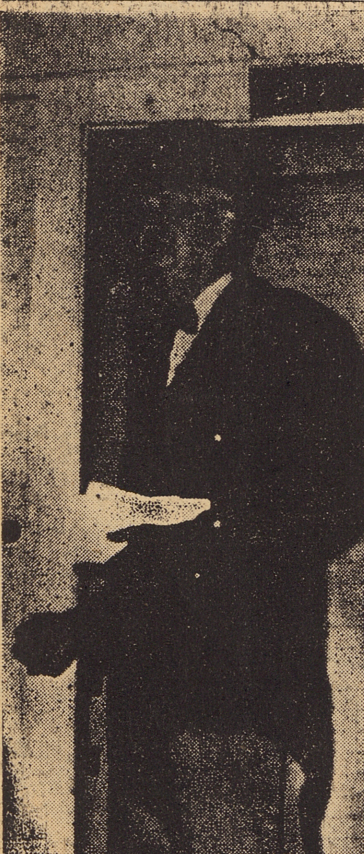
POLIO SHOTS URGED NOW FOR CHILDREN

County residents were urged today by W. Elwyn Turner, M. D., director of Santa Clara County Health Department, to receive their polio vaccinations.

If the nearly thirty thousand children who have yet to receive minimum immunity through a first injection will begin their innoculations as soon as possible, there will be sufficient time to protect them with the full series of three shots before September, the expected height of the polio season in Santa Clara County.

Dr. Turner said statewide reports show the polio vaccine is safe and offers significant protection. Remarkably few paralytic cases have occurred among children who have received at least the first two innoculations of the recommended series of three.

Clinics are held every Wednesday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Santa Clara County Health Department, 2220 Moorpark Ave., San Jose.



HOWARD SMITH . . . retired November after a 35-year career with the postal department—15 years in the Campbell Post Office as a carrier.

Jack Ginley, 30, Succumbs to Traffic Injuries

Jack Ginley, 30, of 487 Richlee Ave,. Campbell, died at County Hospital last Tuesday from injuries received in a traffic accident in San Jose last Friday. He was thrown from his automobile after colliding with a car driven by Lloyd W. Laking of Los Gatos.

A native of Philadelphia, Ginley was brought to California as a child. He attended Alameda schools and San Francisco City College. He served in the U. S. Army medical corps for 18 months and was an advertising salesman for San Jose Mercury-News.

Surviving are his wife, Virginia, also a son and daughter. His wife is expecting a third child.

He also leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Terence Ginley of Alameda, besides two brothers and two sisters.

Rosary will be recited at 8 tonight at the Smiley and Gallagher Funeral Home in Alameda. Services will be conducted at 9:30 a.m.

CAMPBELL MEN GET FRATERNITY POSTS

Three students at the San Jose State College were elected to positions on the Alpha Phi Omega, campus service fraternity.

Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson, 121 El Caminito.

Takaha's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tadayosai Takaha of 17525 Bucknall Road.

Mrs. Emma Taylor had a large gathering at her home last Sunday when her children and grandchildren from far and near gathered at her home on 114 West Cherry Lane for an early Christmas celebration. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Emmett M. Taylor and daughter, Sharon; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Taylor and children, Gail and Murray, from Fresno; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Monte and son, Michael, from San Jose; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cherry of Campbell; a daughter, Mrs. Loraine Pendleton from Fresno; and granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hanson, from Kerman.

CAMPBELL AREA Women

ALYS RILEY, Women's Editor Thursday, December 27, 1956

APPOINTED TO CHAIR

Mrs. Marie Combs of Campbell was recently appointed chairman of the new citizens committee for the Northern Division of the State Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Combs is a past president of Campbell Council of Republican Women.

Here Are the New Neighbors

They've only been here since October, but the Richard Straws now feel right at home in Campbell. They love the climate and have found the people around here to be exceptionally friendly. The family moved here from Elkhart, Indiana and now make their home at 1630 Palo Santo Drive in Campbell. Daughter Sandra, age 9, is a fourth grader at Bucknall School, and Patty, age 6, is in the first grade at El Quito Park School. Richard likes to play golf and fish in his spare time (when he has any), and Mrs. (Mary) Straw is interested in dramatics. Mary hails from England. She's been in the U. S. since 1946 when she came here as a war bride, but has taken a few trips back since that time, the last time was last summer when she and the girls spent a few months there visiting.

Poodles and horses are big interests in the Robert Merwin home at 494 Century Drive. The family came to California from Snohomish, Washington, last January and lived in Palo Alto until last summer. Merwin is an interior decorator. Mrs. Merwin has two French poodles, Peter and Buttercup, and expects to start raising poodles. Her husband shares her interest in dogs.

Sharon, age 14, is a freshman at Campbell Union High School, and among her favorite recreations, tennis is near the top of the list, but her main love is horses. She owns a colt, "Stormy." Sharon, along with many other teenagers, is an ardent Elvis Presley fan. Gayle, age 5, hasn't started school yet, but expects to next September. She shares her sister's interest in horses and has a colt, "Dick," who hasn't yet been shipped down from Snohomish.

When the Robert Hardy family had a chance to move to this area from Berkeley they jumped at the chance as Mrs. (Elaine) Hardy said they've always wanted to live here and they love it. Robert is office manager of Division Heating Company. He's an avid sports enthusiast and Elaine is interested in music and is a very enthusiastic member of the Adult Choral Group at the High School which is directed by Wally Johnson. She also likes to play the piano for her own pleasure.

They have two daughters, Pamela, 10 years old and a fifth grader at Cherry Lane School and Susan, age 6, is a first grader. Pamela will be 10 on New Years Day.

Moreland Teenage Dance Tomorrow

Teen dance, with a New Year's theme, will be held for Moreland District teenagers from the seventh through twelfth grades, tomorrow night from 8 to 11 in the Moreland School cafeteria.

Refreshments will be served during the evening and adequate chaperonage will also be provided.

FAMILY REUNION FOR CHRISTMAS

Sons, daughters and grandchildren from far and near gathered at the Edward Castle home at 580 Emory for a Christmas family reunion, the first time in many years.

Their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Reese, and three children drove up from Los Angeles last Sunday, and last week their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marion E. Castle, and their four children drove in from Overland, Missouri.

Martin Castle was home on a ten-day leave from Kirtland Air Base in New Mexico and another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Cook and one child, from San Jose.

Another son, Marvel Gene Castle, lives at home and attends the Campbell Union High School.

Faculty Wives Have Yule Party

Mrs. James Muir decorated a tree with gingerbread men, cranberries and popcorn when Campbell High School Faculty Wives Club met in her home last week for their meeting and a Christmas party. Christmas gifts were exchanged during the party session.

Mrs. Len Scroggins presided at the short business meeting when Mrs. James Bunger was named telephone chairman and the following committee was appoiinted to draft new by-laws for the club: Mesdames James Muir, Robert Elmore and Laurance Hill.

Dover Children Contribute to Hungarian Relief

Dover School youngsters have been contributing their allowances, ice cream money and have donated proceeds from neighborhood amateur threatricals in order to provide "Meals for Millions" for Hungarian Relief. Many boxes of warm clothing have also been collected. Both funds and clothing have been turned over to the Red Cross.

"Meals for Millions" supplies food to needy people thoughout the world at the price of three cents per meal and Dover School children are reportedly very enthusiastic in their efforts.

Roy Wilson's sixth graders donated seven dollars toward the drive and Mrs. Zoe Fischer's fifth graders donated $11.01 and a group of five girls put on a neighborhood circus, charging admission and selling pop, adding proceeds to the food fund, and two boys from the class contributed proceeds from a half ton of salvage paper they had collected and sold. Boxes of warm clothing were also collected.

Mrs. Ruth Monsen's fourth graders did their share by also collecting several boxes of clothing as well as Mrs. Ellen Ingram's third graders who also collected clothing and donated two dollars.

Hospital School Has Yule Party

Campbell High School and Elementary School District youngsters combined their talents last week when they presented a Christmas program for patients at the Tuberculosis sanitorium at the County Hospital. Campbell District Hospital School and the medical staff of the sanatorium were in charge of the program, under the direction of E. P. Stanley, hospital school principal, and R. M. Manson, M.D., hospital director.

Mrs. Joan Pendley, elementary teacher, directed the elementary boys and girls chorus and Ralph D La Rosa, high school advisor, directed high school boys in a skit. Robert Fecchino, Camden High student, presented a group of accordion selections.

Boys' choir of Campbell Elementary school, under the direction of Ray Johnson, were heard in a number of Christmas carols and Donna Harkleroad led community singing.

On the committee for the program were: Miss Joyce Holte, as program chairman; Mrs. Gene Willett and Mrs. Wilda Bowden, refreshments; Miss Betty Veley, director of nursing, in charge of the arrangements; Thomas Harris, art; and Roy Robertson piano accompanist.

Community contributors of gifts and party favors included: Charity League of San Jose; East San Jose Kiwanis; Brownie Troop 557 of Cypress School, led by Mrs. Ralph De La Rosa; Boy Scout Cub Pack 46, led by Mrs. R. Strickland.

WHEEL CHECK

An important maintenance point for automobile is wheel alignment, but how do you know when it needs to be done? The California State Automobile Association says that when you find that your car is losing its handling ease and does not seem to benefit by being lubricated, it's time for a wheel alignment check. Uneven tire wear is also an indication of faulty wheel alignment.

Local Committee Salvation Army Appeals for Aid

Because funds are depleted at a time when they are mostly needed, the local committee of the Salvation Army made an appeal today for contributions.

"We of the Campbell Service Unit are requesting special assistance, because funds are entirely depleted. Requests for emergency aid are being brought to our attention and funds are needed for winter relief" said LBen Howard, chairman.

No comment was made on how the Salvation Army helped in disaster relief at the time of floods a year ago, as work of this sort, they said was part of their duty and responsibility. It is a matter of record however that the Salvation Army was first on the job here and elsewhere and remained as long as there was a need. Clothing and blankets were gathered in this area for relief in the Santa Cruz flooded district in the hours of greatest need.

Besides Howard, members of the local committee include, Mrs. T. Solari, treasurer; Evelyn V. Cobb, welfare secretary and E. M. Arends, Mrs. M. Bohnet, Guy E. Farley, Ira H. Grim, Homer Hyde, C. P. Klassen, L. E. Means, Wm. H. Morgan, Mrs. Richard Morgan, J. J. Payne, Neal Royer and N. W. Schoenberger.

Reflectorized Tags On '57 Car Licenses

"State registrations of over 7,000,000 motor vehicles will be renewed throughout California during the first five weeks of 1957," Senator John F. "Jack" Thompson announced today.

"The convenience of the public in this huge operation has been carefully provided for under various statutes enacted in recent years by the Legislature," Thompson said. "The Department of Motor Vehicles is authorized to provide many special renewal service points. Among these are 125 located in selected banks, which have donated space as a public service.

"The State has also introduced a new renewal token for the rear license plate for 1957," he added. "It is a reflectorized red sticker, much simpler to attach than the tabs formerly used. And it adds a safety factor in night driving by reflecting light."

The legislator reminded motorists that permanent DMV offices in the district are located at 2201 Park Blvd., Palo Alto; 85 Notre Dame Avenue, San Jose; 57 N. Eigleberry Street, Gilroy, and the Town Hall in Los Gatos.

He also named the following banks as authorized to renew registrations applied for with the annual fee statement cards issued from DMV late in December: Crocker-Anglo National Bank, Stanford Center, Stanford; The First Natioonal Bank, Mountain View, and the American Trust Company in Sunnyvale, Santa Clara, Los Gatos, Willow Glen Branch in San Jose, and the Alum Rock Branch in San Jose.

Tea-Totlers on New Year's Day

Don't be fooled by the suave, "I can take it look" your Open-House guests are apt to wear when they drop in to wish you well for the coming year.

Right after the Christmas Holidays, most people have had about all the partying and cocktails they will want for a long time.

So — if you're planning Open House on New Year's Day, you can save yourself a lot of time, effort and money by getting on the bandwagon with hundreds of party-givers who, like yourself, will start a New Look in entertaining Open House, i.e. "Tea House of the New Year." The beverage that is most likely to "sit" right than any other after the Big Night, is — believe it or not — tea — provided it is full-bodied and flavorful.

For those who "can still take it," offer a little rum, orange curacoa or creme de menthe, to be added to the tea.

The best way to prepare tea for the crowd, however, is to make a tea concentrate. Then all you need to do — is add piping hot water when your guests are ready for another spot of tea. There are many electric speed kettles on the market today that make it possible to produce plenty of boiling water for cup after cup of tea, in a matter of seconds.

Keep the menu simple—tea accompaniments—sandwiches that men can readily sink their teeth into — or a variety of three or four do-it-yourself sandwich fillings. Decorate two or more cakes, depending on how many guests you expect during the day, with the words, Happy New Year. A few seasonal greens and colorful streamers are all you will need to add the Holiday Season touch to your party.

To be sure to have plenty of tea concentrate on hand, bring 1½ quarts cold fresh water from the tap, to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat and immediately add ¼ pound loose tea. Stir to immerse leaves. Cover. Let stand 5 minutes. Strain into teapot until ready to use. This will make 40-45 cups of tea.

EDITORIAL

We Review and Predict

It is in keeping in this last issue of the year to review and to predict. It is almost a tradition for editors to attempt to prove that the happenings of the past twelve months will have a tremendous bearing in the next twelve months.

Of course, in many cases such "proof" does nothing but prove how wrong we all can be.

Yet as we look in retrospect over the achievements, the headaches and the disappointments of 1956 as far as Campbell is concerned, we feel we can make one flat prediction for 1957.

To wit: There will be more of the same in the next twelve months.

We may not be able to specify the chapter and verse, but we certainly can outline the big picture for this area, as far as the next year is concerned. It does not take a crystaal ball for that.

For example without fear of contradiction we maintain that the growth pattern that has been in effect during the past few years will continue at an even more accelerated pace than heretofore.

Because of this growth the problems that have confronted the community in 1956 will become even more pronounced in 1957.

More and more we are sure it will become evident that an overall plan with a definite objective for the future of Campbell must be ascertained. It will be necessary, we feel. to have the face-lift project which has been started in downtown Campbell continue even more vigorously during the ensuing months.

Campbell. located in the hub of the Santa Clara Valley, cannot stand still. We will be affected by this tremendous growth whether we like it or not.

Business people who want to play ostrich and stick their heads in the sand ignoring what is going on around them, may find that they have been bypassed and will wither on the vine.

We feel that 1957 will see great strides made in civic betterment by the fledgling City of Campbell. We know that many residents of the city are unhappy because they feel that Campbell overnight has not become the model city of the land.

We have long been convinced that progress is being made in the city and that as time goes on the achievements of the young city will become more apparent.

Campbell has the potential. But it will take patience, good planning, cooperation and plenty of common sense to reach the goal for which we all must strive.

In this editorial we have attempted to convey the feeling that we are optimistic over our city's future but that we know that there are many hurdles that must be crossed. Yet we are confident that these hurdles will be cleared and the Campbell of the future will be a community of which we all can be proud.

This is our New Year's message . . . a prediction and a review so to speak.

The review shows that we have come quite a distance. The prediction maintains that the future is bright.

So with that thought we leave 1956 (or what's left of it) and to all of you from all of us . . .

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

One Year Ago – A Flood

Nature sometimes disturbs the best-made plans, just as a year ago when heavy rains came to the bay area, and streams flooded homes and streets. We saw families whose homes were flooded, hovering in the gymnasium at the Campbell high school as the Red Cross, the army and other organizations stood by.

Much of this flood here was caused, not so much by the heavy rainfall, as by the storm drains being congested with debris. This is something that can and should be avoided. Some day, in our planning, flood waters will be controlled by better channellizing, but that is an expensive process and calls for cooperation from the County and the state.

In the meantime, keeping the creek beds free of fallen trees and garden trimmings, may help avert a repeat of our experiences of one year ago.

OUT on the LIMB
George Vierhus

Trying to write this column on the day before Christmas when our thoughts are far from our typewriter is a difficult task. Actually you readers will be the ones who will suffer, and that's hardly fair during the holiday season when everything should all be sweetness and light.

But there is going to be a column, come what may. And, by golly, you just have to sit through it. After all this holiday spirit has to work two ways. We write it, you read it—but you must be charitable and allow some digression on our part, especially when your editor is still on Cloud 9.

In case some of you tuned in late, we have just returned from our honeymoon. And with Christmas, New Year's and all, gee, a guy just cannot be sure what will come off his typewriter.

We have come this far in this column and we have said nothing of note yet, at least nothing worthy of being in any sort of column. But we are not going to stop now. We are going to stick it out and you are stuck with it.

This is the time of year when the mantlepiece over the fireplace is laden with Christmas c ards received from friends and relatives. Some of the cards are from those we haven't heard from since last Christmas, while others are from people we see quite regularly. Card sending is an American custom which has become an institution, and, to a certain extent, big business.

We feel guilty because we have not sent cards for a number of years. Our guilt mounts each Christmas as we receive the Yuletide greetings. Each year when we have seen how many people have remembered us we resolve to send cards the next Christmas. We haven't as yet—but we still like to receive 'em.

Now with a helpmate at our side, we have a sneaking hunch that there will be some changes made.

—o—

We received one card this Christmas which we prize most highly.

It has taken an honored spot in our home and the thought that it expresses will always remain in our heart.

Never in all our life have we ever received a message that has made us feel so warm inside.

The card was received from a family we didn't even know.

The message was simple:

Season's Greetings and best wishes for a Happy New Year" and the family's name—but what makes this card one that we will cherish forever was the handwritten addition on its face: "With sincere appreciation of your splendid editorial policy."

Golly, we are proud of that.

It makes us feel that maybe it has all been worthwhile.

Not that we have ever doubted it, but we must admit there have been times when we have been a trifle discouraged. Temporarily, that is.

Filling this column today should really present no problem. We could just sit down and write about how wonderful people have been to us and the new Mrs. George Vierhus.

We can see where they would go for our little bride. We don't see how in the world they could help themselves. But it's also kind of nice the way this nervous bridegroom has been treated by everyone. We certainly appreciate it.

We were proud and happy that a familiar Campbell face was present in Las Vegas when the nuptial knot was tied.

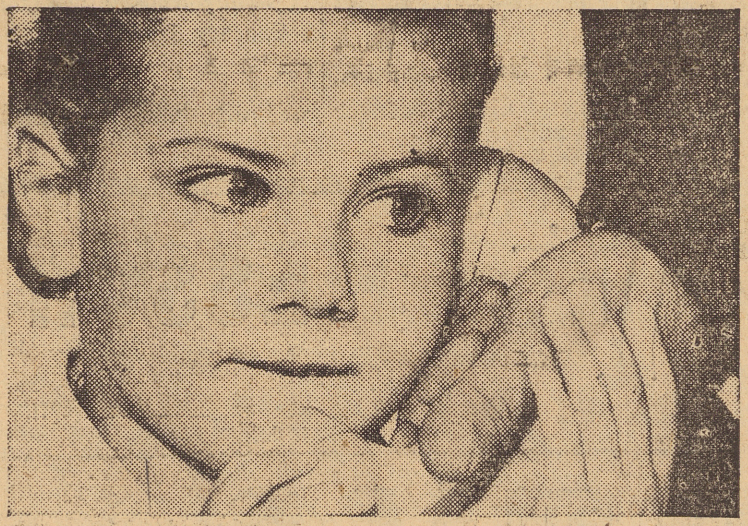
Sam Cava, secretary-manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, who is building a medical center building in Las Vegas, where his son, Emil, is an outstanding physician and surgeon, managed to arrange his business affairs in such a manner that he was in the Nevada town when we arrived.

He was host to us, along with his son and wife, and we will never forget his genuine hospitality.

Thank you, Sam, for your gesture of friendship. We sincerely hope your confidence in us will never be misplaced.

WHAT'S DOING

T. K. Nordheim, your Telephone Manager in Campbell



Listen, my little sweetheart . . .

This was the year you discovered that fascinating thing Mommy and Daddy call the telephone. Pretty wonderful, isn't it? But just you wait! Why, by the time you're grown—say twenty years from now—lots of wonderful things will have happened to your phone. You'll probably have one in every room of your home. Maybe you'll even carry a tiny one in your pocket. Combined telephone and television may be yours if you wish. All these things will come from never-ending telephone research —will come, too, from the men and women of Pacific Telephone, who work to make your telephone more useful every day.

Let your Personal Number Book remember the number

Do you find yourself with more than the usual number of phone calls to make this time of year: friends to call and thank, stores to phone, party arrangements to make? Well, now is the time to collect all these telephone numbers in one spot where they'll be easy to find the year around. And a good place to write them down is in this handy Blue Book. We'll be happy to give you one. Just call, write or drop in and see us. The Blue Book of Telephone Numbers is yours for the asking.

Throughout the year we've enjoyed our job of bringing you the best telephone service possible. Now, all of us at the telephone company in Campbell would like to wish you the happiest of holiday seasons. We hope the new year will hold many good things for you. And, of course, we'll do our best to see that good telephone service is one of those things.

Happy Holidays

ON CAPITOL HILL

By Representative Charles S. Gubser

The often heard phrase of "living out of a suitcase" has a very special meaning for Congressmen and their employees. Due to the nature of our work we must maintain offices at both ends of the country. When Congress adjourns we pack our files, office equipment, and the thousands of things necessary to the daily conduct of our business, and ship them back to California. Now we are in the process of shipping them back to Washington because of the convening of Congress on January 3rd.

Operating an office for approximately equal time at opposite ends of the country, and transportation of the tools with which we work is complicated and expensive, to say the least. These tools can be shipped under our congressional frank and the Congress reimburses the Post Office Department.

In my case, I have a very efficient staff which is becoming adept at the semi-annual moves. Mrs. Matilda Lindsay, a resident of Willow Glen, is making ready to take over part-time operation of my San Jose office, and will keep office hours on Tuesdays and Thursdays following the New Year holiday. At the opposite end of the country, Miss Marilyn Keefe, who works the year round in the Washington office and keeps it open during the congressional recess, is also readying our desks and cleaning out old files for the insertion of the new ones which will soon be arriving from California. My administrative assistant, Miss Jean Gordon who is in charge of my office operations at both ends of the country, is busily packing up for the transcontinental switch.

Since our San Jose office officially closed last Friday, I suggest that if any of you have problems in which we might be helpful that you address me at Room 336 House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

After the first of the year it might be more convenient for you to call at Room 201, Bank of America Building in San Jose and discuss your problem with Mrs. Lindsay on any Tuesday or Thursday.

Before winding up this week's message, may I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, and extend my thanks for being such a wonderful group of bosses. It is a pleasure to work for you..

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. The red berried plants such as Pyracantha, Bufords or English Holly are now at their peak—they add a festive touch to the garden during the holiday season.

2. Here are a few suggested gifts for the gardner—Azaleas, Rhodendrons, Camellias, Roses, Daphne. There are a myriad of garden tools such as handy new spray guns, pruners, and powed equipment.

3. Prune roses and fruit trees now.

4. If you have delayed planting spring flowering bulbs you can still do it, but hurry!

5. Peaches and Nectarines should receive their first spraying to prevent peach leaf curl..

New Roses for 1957

Guaranteed to please as Christmas gifts for gardener and non-gardener alike are some of the lovely new Roses for 1957. Every Nursery now has some of the newest Rose varieties on hand in bare root form ready to set out in the garden during the holidays.

In the hybrid tea class, Midnight, a deep, dark red with a spicy fragrance has been introduced in time for Christmas buying. Midnight features a vigorous plant and long buds on long, stout stems. Its foliage is quite mildew resistant and the plant blooms profusely.

Once again a floribunda Rose has captured an All America Rose selections honor for 1957. White Bouquet is the name of this winner—the first white rose ever to win in A.A.R.S. competition. It is pale cream to snowey white with gardenia-like flowers on a compact plant, one an a half to two feet tall. Another floribunda for this season is Moonsprite, a charming name to describe a charming Rose. With a pale gold center shading to white in double blooms this Rose is perfect for cutting. The plant is compact and rounded with luxuriant foliage.

Golden Showers

Also awarded an All America Rose honor for 1957 is the climber, Golden Showers. Its golden yellow flowers bloom from early spring through late fall. The plant itself can be trained as a pillar Rose, a big cascading shrub or a climber.

Spectacular describes it and Spectacular is its name—another new climbing Rose with scarlet buds turning to double blooms of orange-red, which is a new color among climbers. Many rose enthusiasts believe the Spectacular to be even more beautiful than Paul Scarlet. Fans of Chrysler Imperial will be pleased to learn this finest of red roses is now available as a climber for the first time.

Choose several varieties of the "Queen of Flowers" to present to your friends and relatives this Christmas, suggests the California Association of Nurserymen. Roses will bring them pleasure and enjoyment for years to come.

Care of Living Christmas Trees

The idea of living Christmas trees is becoming more and more popular for it appeals to practical as well as sentimental Californians. There are, however, several cultural requirements to meet to insure having a healthy tree to plant outdoors when the holiday festivities are finished, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Living Christmas trees can be obtained ready for transfer into the ground or they can be had growing permanently in tubs. In either case you can bring the tree indoors.

A good rule of thumb to follow in caring for a living Christmas tree is to treat it like a house plant, giving it as much care as you would a potted plant. Adequate moisture is most necessary.

Evergreens kept indoors for a week or more will do better without great warmth. Keep rooms as cool as possible.

If you give your living Christmas tree adequate moisture and temperature consideration during its stay indoors . . . you'll be able to enjoy it outdoors for many years to come.

Gift Gadgets for Gardeners

"It's the little things that count" people often say when they philosophize about life . . . and so it is about gardening . . . it's those little gadgets that make gardening easy and enjoyable and these very same "little gadgets" can make wonderful Christmas gift selections.

Hose attachments, pump sprayers or dusters, pruning equipment—anvil-type, drop-forged or lopping shears—gloves, hand trowels, redwood and pottery containers, all these gadgets are certain to please gardeners at Christmas time.

Supplies of fertilizers, mulches, plant food, while not "glamorous" Christmas gifts, are certainly among the most practical.

If your gardening friends and relatives go in for garden book lore, you'll find it at your local nurseryman, a large assortment of authoritative guides on gardening—the Sunset books by Good Housekeeping and Better Homes and Gardens. There are also many fine books on California native trees and shrubs which will make interesting as well as useful reading.

Gift Orders For Gardeners

To make sure you give your friends and family just exactly the garden gift that they want, give them gift orders, suggests the California Association of Nurserymen—and let them select their own presents.

Nurseries throughout the state have instituted the gift order method of Christmas shopping to assure complete satisfaction for the giver and the receiver. You can purchase a gift order, have it attractively wrapped and present it on Christmas day.

Machinery irons out the long-standing lumps on Winchester Road; widening to come later

More About

Review of Year

September

Father Denis Kennelly, pastor of St. Lucy's Catholic Church, outlined plans for building and financing the $170,000 Church building to be located on Winchester Road, just south of Kennedy Ave.

All the schools in the Campbell area started fall terms with record enrollments.

Councilman J. B. (Jim) Arends, who was first elected to the City Council when the City was incorporated in 1952, submitted his resignation as a City Father.

Local business firms, property owners and city officials geared for action in an overall program destined to eventually change the appearance of the downtown business section.

OCTOBER

Plans were announced for the launching of a drive to raise funds for the building of "The Rev. Joseph H. Bennett Memorial Hall," on the grounds of the new First Congregational Church on W. Campbelll Ave.

Flood bonds failed to get the necessary majority to carry in the North Central flood zone, of which Campbell is a part.

With a minimum of gear-grinding, the machinery for the collecting of the uniform county-wide sales tax in Campbell and the rest of the county went into action. Local merchants began charging an extra penny on their sales.

The City Council appointed Charles A. Schmidt to fill the vacancy on the Council resulting from the resignation of Jim Arends.

Two irate local real estate agents appeared before the City Council to see what could be done about a sewer line that was lost, strayed or stolen (or never put in), on a piece of land they purchased. It was reputedly installed during W.P.A. days. The two agents suggested they might even sue the sewer.

NOVEMBER

Three more small industries were assured Campbell with the announcement made by Noel J. Brown, San Jose business man, that negotiations had been completed for the purchase of a seven acre tract near the southern city limits.

Machines finally began ironing out the long-standing bumps on the Winchester Road from the south line of Hamilton Ave., to the south line of Budd Ave.

It was learned that an "island" of residents, by-passed by the City of Campbell when it extended its city limits several years ago, may soon become a part of the City. The area is known as Manor Tract, and lies north of W. Campbell Ave. It comprises about 30 homes.

It was learned that residents of the Campbell Union High School and Campbell Union Elementary School District will probably vote on $16.5 million in state loans and bond issues at a joint election to be held by the two districts next February 5.

It was announced that by next spring dirt will be flying on the Route 5 Freeway slated to go through Campbell. The freeway plans call for a distance of nine miles, at a cost of almost six million dollars to be constructed.

The State Allocations Board gave its approval to the Campbell Union Elementary School District's bid for additional funds amounting to $81,960 to buy the site for the proposed Parkway School.

It was learned that in all probability residents of this area can expect to pay an increased sewer serivce charge next year. It is estimated that the fee, now 40 cents monthly for single-family residences, will be hiked to $1.10:

The Cambrian Elementary School District's fourth school, Farnham Elementary School, opened with an enrollment of 646.

DECEMBER

The residents of Campbell Manor decided that they don't want to become a part of the City.

The City Council finally gave its approval of the Winchester plan-line. No changes were made in the original plan, which was first suggested by the city engineer, and later okayed by the City Plannig Commission.

Two Campbell Police officers (one an auxiliary) nabbed two armed youthful burglars in the act of "knocking over" Williams Bros. Mobilgas Service Station one early morning.

In a somewhat reluctant manner, the City Planners approved the application for a use permit to build a post office at 97-109 N. Central Ave. The postal department, however, is not committed, other than by option to set up a new post office building at the location.

The City Council moved into its new home—the old Congregational Church building on Central Ave.

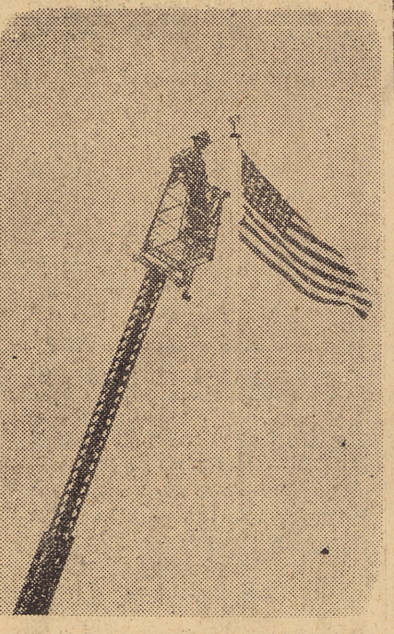
TAKING OATH . . . last October to fill the city council post vacated by Jim Arends is Charles A. Schmidt. Seated is Mayor John M. Chargin, and administering the oath is City Clerk, Dorothy Trevethan.



STILL WAVING . . . All last year St. Lucy's School was unable to fly Old Glory in the school yard due to a broken hook at the top of the flagpole. A phone company worker finally fixed things up last August; and the school has been raising and lowering the Flag ever since.
